"The number of bright and talented SCRABBLE players we see every year never fails to impress me," said Jonathan Berkowitz, senior vice president of marketing, Hasbro Gaming. "The competition in the 15th annual North American School SCRABBLE Championship was fierce - but fun - and we want to thank all of the participants, coaches, families, and friends who joined Hasbro for a weekend filled with extraordinary SCRABBLE gameplay."

Eighth-grader Jem Burch and seventh-grader Zach Ansell, also known by their SCRABBLE team name Random Word Generators are both former School SCRABBLE Champions. The duo played eight tournament rounds throughout the weekend, out-spelling their final opponents 374-349 with high-scoring words such as EUGENIA, INFARES, ENTRESOL and STEEPING.

The winners of the newly-formed Challenge Division, geared towards newer SCRABBLE players and first time competitors in grades 4 through 12 was won by teammates Audrey Benford from Potomac, Md. and Dina Lacugna from Fairfield, Conn. The winner of the newly formed High School Division was Kevin Bowerman from Chapel Hill, NC.

This year, the North American School SCRABBLE Championship was officiated by Mindsports International.
